THE CHERRYBLOSSOM LEG-END.

Oh, sleep, my children, sleep!

Lie close together on your cold, hard bed.

What have ye now but sleep? The fire is dead,

And there remains but one poor crust of bread,

That I against your hungry waking keep.

Oh, sleep, my children, sleep!

The timbers groan with frost, and creaks the floor;

The moonlight glances on the panes all white;

The wind whips up the snow against the door.

A voice I hear; outside, some child doth weep.

My children are asleep;

But thou, young lamb, wide straying from the fold,

I pity thee, best bleeding, numb with cold.

But thou art bread—a morsel dry and old.

To warm thyself, beneath their cover creep.

Sleep well, my children, sleep!

And thou, too, sleep, poor wanderer, till the day.

What's that? What thou no longer stay?

How strangely gone! No footstep marks the way.

But flowers start through the drift so smooth and deep!

Oh, children, leave your sleep!

Come hither, come, and see this wondrous thing—

Rough winter to his bosom folds the Spring!

A holy Guest to the night doth bring;

These flowers he left, himself we could not keep.

My children, leave your sleep.

Leave empty dreaming on your cold, hard bed;

For now the house is light, the hearth

red;

Be hungry now no more; with meat and bread

Do heavenly hands unseal the treasure.

—Boston Traveler.

Kate's Husband

"The gentleman on the left, Kate,"

do you know him? He has looked frequently toward you."

"Has he?"

"Who is it?"

"Can't tell. I have not seen him."

"Suppose you look."

"I prefer not. I came to see the play."

Is not Helen Faunce superb?"

"So, so. I wish you would tell me who that gentleman on the left is. I am sure he knows you, and he is strikingly handsome."

"At present the stage interests me."

Besides, if men are rude enough to stare

at strangers, there is no occasion for us to imitate them."

"Your ladyship has no curiosity?"

"Not any. I exhausted it some time ago."

Her ladyship was not telling the truth; she was intensely curious, but it pleased her at the time to pique

the curiosity of her daughter. The strange sympathy that makes us intensely conscious of a familiar glance, even in a crowded building, had not yet been excited, and she had not advised her of it. If she had not been asked to look toward her left, she would probably have done so; as it was she respectfully denied any movement in that direction.

The play finished in a tumult of applause. Lady Kate Talbot forgot everything in the excitement, and as she stood up flushed and trembling, she inadvertently turned toward the left. Instantly she recognized a presence with which she ought to have been familiar enough.

The gentleman bowed with an extreme respect. Lady Kate acknowledged the courtesy in a manner too full of astonishment to be altogether graceful, and the elaborate politeness of the recognition was not softened by any glance implying a more tender intimacy than that

A CARD.

The children of the late William Foster wish to express their thanks to the many neighbors and friends, and especially to the Rev. Mr. J. H. Allen, for their kind and sympathetic contributions to the funeral.

NORWAY AND VICINITY.

The winter schools are closing. Geo. A. Cole tended the Grange store last Saturday.

Woods wanted at this office—on subscriptions.

Five Advertisers this month, and the shortest month in the year too.

Miss Carrie Gilmore of Boston at the risk next Thursday evening.

Large lot of dry goods for sale cheap at Noyes' Drug Store.

Interesting social meetings at the vestry of the Universalist church every Sunday evening.

The boys improved the excellent sliding of last week by bringing out the double and single runners.

We are indebted to James Whiting, of Eureka, Cal., for a copy of the Weekly Examiner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thurston, of Island Pond, Vt., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Waters.

Yon should see the champion lady skater of the world at Norway rink next Thursday evening. Seats 15 cts.

Social dance at Elm House Hall this (Friday) evening. Haselton's Orchestra furnishes music and a good time is expected.

A. Biscoe, while clearing the snow of the roof of his house, fell from the ladder and escaped with a slight scalp wound.

Leap Year party at Beal's House this (Friday) evening, under the management of Miss Fannie Howe and Miss Agnes Beal.

T. G. Goodwin conducts business at the old stand. He has usual, a full line of barrel casks. He also does upstabling in all its branches. See card.

The closing testimony and arguments in the Noyes vs. Crockett case occurred Tuesday. Judge Barrows presided, and made public at the coming March term of court.

Miss Annie F. Hayden's school on Elm Hill closed on Saturday of last week. A number of visitors were present, among whom was Prof. O. W. Collins.

A number of members of Oxford Lodge No. 15, F. & A. M., of this village attended the funeral of the late William Foster at the Center of the town Monday afternoon. Mr. Foster was the oldest member of the Lodge.

E. W. Bartlett is paying his whole attention now to writing address cards, and other fine work with the pen. He leaves a pack of artistically written cards on our table and we take pride in showing how they look.

An increased attendance at the temperance meeting last Sunday. As true played the cornet and there was some splendid singing by Nellie Stuart and Annie Grant. It is expected that the quartette will sing next Sunday.

The Advertiser was represented at the convention of Free Thinkers, at the Maine Memorial Hall, Boston, the past week by associate editor E. H. Brown, esq., who took in the city, the convention and several of the adjoining towns.

Some of the children of this village have formed a secret society under the name of the North Star Club. At the last meeting the following officers were elected, namely: Della M. Noyes, President; Lavinia E. Smith, Secretary; Etta Knightly, Treasurer.

J. W. Foley shows as a fine specimen of a gold nugget which was presented to him by Mr. J. M. Wardwell of Idaho, who is now visiting relatives in Oxford. The nugget weighs twelve carats and is of considerable value. It is the finest specimen of precious metal we have seen for many a day.

The Goose-Gander Club has opened headquarters in a spacious hall owned by Horace Cole and located near the latter gentleman's residence. Capt. A. Noyes, James Grant, and several other members of the G. & G. are Eddie and Denise Cole, Harry Chase, Harry Farrow, Miss Lavinia Smith, Miss Annie Cole and Miss Della Noyes.

Uncle Daniel Scribner leaves in our sanctum several copies of old papers. The Argus of 1818 and the Gazette of Portland of 1815. Napoleon the Great figured extensively in the newspapers of those days. We notice that Oxford County in that early day used the same cumbersome legal blanks in giving public notices on the settlement of estates as are now in vogue.

S. G. Richardson, esq., has completed his one hundred thousand binders of Messrs. Kimball & Brooks. The last hundred was delivered Saturday. He has been some two years in doing it and has received therefore between $800 and $900 cash. Simon stepped into our office and bought a subscription and tells us that the poor binders averaged one in a hundred, and he seriously doubts if that can be beat by any other.

In the course of time, and at no distant day—the Falls paper will bring and the other old mill will float down the Little Androscoggin to obstruct navigation and land beauty and attraction to other settlements. The hulks and rookery isn't a thing of beauty neither of joy to this place, and its destruction will not be wept over or wove into paper. We know, yet the apparent stupidity of its owners might be written to point a moral and a lesson.

We recently received a pleasant call from Mr. James S. Grant of Waterville, Me., who is the owner of a nice farm at Waterville, and has a fine herd of cattle, some 20 head. Two pair of fat cattle, one pair recently bought in summer and one in Hartford. He has four fine horses—one a six years old Morgan, sired by Murray's "Live Oak," and a promising two years old, sired by John Green. We know Mr. Grant has been on this farm some nine years—coming from Boston there—he has expended a good deal of money in improving the buildings, and land and has one of the best farms in Waterville. Mr. G. deals quite extensively in cattle and horses and animals for sale some fine animals.

Dr. Twombly is death on corns, bunions, and ingrowing nails. We know whereof we write. He is a painless operator. There are fully one hundred persons in this village that will testify. The doctor recently cut through the nail of a toe and removed a troublesome corn that was under the nail. Incredible as it may seem, the operation was done without pain or drawing blood—we are good judges in this, and the foot is well and we can now everlastingly fit the man on the toe of our boot who insults us, without suffering all the pain imaginable. We don't doubt this call on the man who has charge of the darning department of this paper and he will prove it to you in more ways than one. We cheerfully recommend Dr. Twombly to every one who is suffering as we have suffered.

H. L. Horne, esq., is in Boston. Soon the town reports will be in order.

This is Leap Year and some of the "girls" are making the most of it.

We noticed a fine looking string of bass, which was taken out of the pond one day last week.

O. W. Collins has resigned his commission as Capt. of the Norway Light Infantry.

We wish those who have promised to haul us wood in payment for their paper, would do so at once.

Ladies Circle next Wednesday afternoon and evening at the vestry of the lower church. All are cordially invited.

The skating rink seems to be the most popular place of amusement this winter. There has been very few days since for this season that it is not used in the manufacture of pulp.

Three car loads of poplar are sent away from this station to Yarmouth and other places nearly every day. It is used in the manufacture of pulp.

William Jenkins caught 12 bass and 11 perch in about three hours on the pond Wednesday. The bass averaged large—say 3 pounds and more apiece.

Regular meeting of Harry Post Post G. A. R. this Friday eve. Comrades of the lodge are invited to attend, and can make it convenient as requested to be present.

Mr. George Dennis of this town has a colt which was raised from the breast of a cow, weighs 900 lbs. It colt isn't quite three years old, and is said to be the largest colt of its age in town.

"Does prohibition prohibit" is the title of a little tale that will be read by permission by one of our citizens at the temperance meeting next Sunday. It is said to be an eye-opener.

A skating party of nearly 200 came from Lewiston and Auburn here last Friday evening. The skating was fine, and the refreshments were excellent. The party was a success.

Mr. C. E. Smith presents us with a wine dollar pair of boots of his make. They are beautiful and every way perfect. As they fit the feet of Capt. Whitmarsh, he will give up our claim on them. Smith works at Allen and knows how to do a good job.

It is her first appearance in this section of Maine, and the house will be crowded. Secure your seats early. All seats reserved at the Norway rink. It is expected that the quartette will sing next Sunday.

Proficiency in English, experience, and a substantial English education her scholars have advanced—not too rapidly—but thoroughly in the rudiments of the English language. The examination was well attended by parents, and the scholars acquitted themselves with much honor.
